

COMPOSTABLE PACKAGING AT THE EDINBURGH COFFEE FESTIVAL

Help us make this year's Edinburgh Coffee Festival the most sustainable yet. Conventional packaging is difficult to recycle – it's made from a mix of materials and often contaminated with food residue. This means most of it goes to landfill or incineration.

Vegware's catering disposables are made from plants, not plastic, and they're designed to be composted with food waste.

We want this year's festival to be a zero-waste event. By serving your food and drinks in compostable packaging, you'll help us create one of the most sustainable coffee festivals in the UK.

After the event, all disposable packaging will be composted nearby. Just 12 weeks later, it will be available to local farms as nutrient rich soil improver.
